(Washington, D.C. January 11, 2017)—CxEnergy, the only conference and expo dedicated exclusively to building commissioning and energy management, announced today that attendee registration is open. CxEnergy had nearly 500 attendees in 2016. With the 2017 event in Orlando, FL, “the new central location for technology and progress,” CxEnergy expects even greater attendance this year.

"CxEnergy is an outstanding conference that brings together the top individuals and companies in commissioning and energy management. We never miss CxEnergy," said Mark Gelfo, P.E., LEED Fellow, CxA, EMP, Vice President and Principal at TLC Engineering for Architecture, a Gold Sponsor.
