(Washington, D.C. December 12, 2017)—CxEnergy, the only conference and expo dedicated exclusively to building commissioning and energy management, announced today that Facility Commissioning Group will be a Gold Sponsor at the event.

Additionally, Facility Commissioning Group President and CEO Jim Magee, CxA, EMP, LEED AP will present on the topic of “Leading without Authority: Engaging the Project Team.” Project commissioning epitomizes the relentless need for teamwork coupled with consistent process application required to meet rigorous technical and schedule demands. The presentation explores a variety of tried collaborative techniques learned through years of field experience. This session will be open to interaction and sharing of additional ideas and methods triggered through the conversation of what has worked for the speaker and the audience.

Magee said CxEnergy 2018 will be a ground breaking event. “As the built environment’s largest association of certified commissioning providers, ACG and its partners AABC and EMA have again delivered state of the art programs to address increasing demands brought to bear from government regulations to save energy and imperatives to protect the public. I encourage you to join us at CxEnergy and benefit from the ambitious and diverse commissioning, TAB and energy management dialogue at the largest gathering of its kind.”

CxEnergy 2018 is being held April 23-26 at the Rio All-Suite Hotel in Las Vegas, NV. Attendees will earn AIA and other industry certification continuing education credits for presentations that include case studies and topics in building envelope/enclosure commissioning, technology & innovation, energy management, commissioning specialty systems, policy & financial issues, lighting, water management, data centers, microgrids, energy storage and more.
